Giovanni Barbieri's Timeworn Triangles are the perfect marriage of man-made terracotta and nature's most artistic material, marble.

1.5" x 1.5" triangles in a pleasing random pattern create a whimsical, textural look that can work anywhere. The red, beige and grey are each made of a terracotta and three marbles; the white is all Carrara. Timeworn Triangles can be used as a high impact focal point or very effectively as an accent in nooks, niches and backsplashes.
